APPENDIX A

The present application was originally filed in February 2001. The attorneys of record at the time of the filing, Pearson and Pearson, were fired as of July 2001, although nothing was filed with the United States Patent and Trademark Office ("USPTO") to either affect their power of attorney or to alter the correspondence address. In March of 2002, a restriction was mailed to Pearson and Pearson. The restriction was forwarded to the application assignee, Diamond Antenna and Microwave Corp., more specifically to the President of Diamond Antenna and Microwave Corp, Jeffrey T. Gilling. Mr. Gilling responded to the restriction via facsimile on April 24, 2002. The response to the restriction was properly received by the USPTO and entered into record. The response to the restriction further contained a change to correspondence address. The change to correspondence address was not entered into record and, further, the examiner did not comment on the change of correspondence address to explain why it was not recorded. According to USPTO records, on June 18, 2002, an office action was mailed to Pearson and Pearson. Pearson and Pearson deny receiving the correspondence from the USPTO. Pearson and Pearson admit that no office action was ever forwarded to the patent application assignee. According to USPTO records, on February 25, 2003, a Notice of Abandonment was mailed to Pearson and Pearson and Pearson deny receiving the notice from the USPTO. Pearson and Pearson admit that they never forwarded a Notice of Abandonment to the assignee. The assignee, based on their filing of the change of correspondence address, anticipated future office actions would be mailed to its place of business. The assignee did not hire another attorney to prosecute the case until October 18, 2005, when Attorney Todd A. Sullivan (Reg. No. 47,117) was asked to look into the case and, specifically, determine why they had not heard anything regarding the application. Attorney Sullivan learned through Public PAIRS that the case had gone abandoned and immediately began working with the assignee to prepare an office action response and the present petition. At no time did the assignee intend or desire to abandon the present application.
